Diversifying Fixed Income

Global Developed Market Exposure

Why Invest

- ▶ Opportunistic total return portfolio that leverages multiple sectors within the global fixed income universe
- ▶ Actively manages the duration and credit exposure based on where we believe we are in the economic cycle
- ▶ Seeks to take advantage of opportunities across developed markets created by central bank divergence and to avoid currency bets

Index represents the Bloomberg Barclays Global Aggregate Credit Index (USD Hedged). Performance for Class D Shares that includes periods prior to 6/5/17 reflects the performance of a share class of a predecessor fund, adjusted, where applicable and permitted, for differing fees and expenses. See the Fund's prospectus for further details. Returns include reinvestment of dividends and capital gains. Returns greater than one year are annualized.

There is no assurance the stated objective(s) will be met.

Equity country, regional, sector and industry weights based on MSCI and GICS classifications. Fixed income country, regional, sector and industry weights based on Barclays classifications.

Investing involves risk, including the possible loss of principal and fluctuation of value.

Fixed income securities are subject to interest rate, inflation, credit and default risk. The bond market is volatile. As interest rates rise, bond prices usually fall, and vice versa. The return of principal is not guaranteed, and prices may decline if an issuer fails to make timely payments or its credit strength weakens.

Foreign securities are subject to additional risks including currency fluctuations, political and economic uncertainty, increased volatility, lower liquidity and differing financial and information reporting standards, all of which are magnified in emerging markets.

High-yield or "junk" bonds involve a greater risk of default and price volatility and can experience sudden and sharp price swings.

Holding a meaningful portion of assets in cash or cash equivalents may negatively affect performance.

Index performance does not reflect the expenses of managing a portfolio as an index is unmanaged and not available for direct investment.

Bloomberg Barclays Global Aggregate Credit Index measures the credit sector of the global investment grade fixed-rate bond market, including corporate, government and agency securities. Alpha compares risk-adjusted performance relative to an index. Positive alpha means outperformance on a risk-adjusted basis. Beta measures the volatility of a security or portfolio relative to an index. Less than one means lower volatility than the index; more than one means greater volatility. R-squared (R²) measures the relationship between portfolio and index performance on a scale of 0.00 (0%) to 1.00 (100%). A higher R² indicates more of the portfolio's performance is affected by market movements and vice versa. Standard Deviation measures historical volatility. Higher standard deviation implies greater volatility. Sharpe Ratio measures risk-adjusted performance using excess returns versus the "risk-free" rate and the volatility of those returns. A higher ratio means better return per unit of risk. Duration measures a bond price's sensitivity to changes in interest rates. The longer a bond's duration, the higher its sensitivity to changes in interest rates and vice versa.
